Answer: The Department does not guarantee the details or calculations contained within the calculations book. The calculations book is provided for informational purposes only and is not part of the contract documents. The bidder shall make independent calculations and base the bid solely on these calculations. The bidder's submission of a proposal is prima facie evidence that the bidder has not relied on the calculations book. No claim for compensation may be based on an inaccuracy contained within the calculations book. The calculations book is available for download from your order history in online ordering.
