

Company Profile

What is a Company Profile?

A company in MAC is represented by a Company Profile. It is the record in MAC that identifies the company name. That record is used to tie other records in MAC to the company in a consistent manner.

Who is the Company Profile Manager?

The Company Profile Manager is a user that has authority to manage user roles and company access. The Company Profile Manager can move existing users to any of the role(s) described in the Users section below. The Company Profile Manager can grant other companies permission to access/act on the company's data on a project basis or a global basis.

NOTE: A company can have one or more Company Profile Manager.

What gets associated to a Company Profile?

Users

Companies will have users tied to the company profile in MAC. Every company will have at least one user, the Company Profile Manager. All users will be associated to the company by a MACD District Application Coordinator. The users that can be assigned to a Company Profile are:

- a. Data Entry User – this user can enter samples, receive samples and enter test results.
- b. Data Reviewer – this user can perform all the functions of the Data Entry User plus review the sample information and test results for possible revisions and submit the sample to FDOT for sample finalization.
- c. Facility Profile Manager – this user can manage facility profile information for production facilities and/or laboratories.
- d. Mix Design Reviewer – this user can review existing mix designs assigned to a company profile and request revisions to the mix designs.

NOTE: Users can hold more than one role at at time.

Production Facility and Laboratory Profiles

Production facilities and laboratories will be associated to a Company Profile. Each production facility and/or lab can have its own Profile Manager or a single user can manage the Profiles of as many facilities as the company prefers.

Mix Designs

Company Profiles will be how MAC ensures that the proprietary information of mix designs is secured. Companies with asphalt and/or concrete mix designs will have the specific mix design records assigned to their Company Profile.
