SUBARTICLE 2.2.1, third paragraph: Recommended changes to verbiage as follows:

Upon receipt of a pProposal order, the Department will ~~provide a computer diskette or CD-ROM for use on a personal computer that is suitable for preparing the bid. This diskette or CD-ROM contains the Expedite Proposal file to be used by the Contractor to prepare the bid and print a proposal form for submittal~~ make the pProposal available for download as an electronic file from the online ordering system or provide the pProposal as an electronic file on portable electronic media as stipulated in the Advertisement. This file ~~contains the information~~ is to be used by the Bidder to submit the bid.

The clean version is below:

Upon receipt of a Proposal order, the Department will make the Proposal available for download as an electronic file from the online ordering system or provide the Proposal as an electronic file on portable electronic media as stipulated in the Advertisement. This file is to be used by the Bidder to submit the bid.

*Response: We agree with adding the suggested changes - “as an electronic file” and ” is.”
Changes made.*

Since the proposal is electronic file and will be downloaded from the on line ordering system, and the electronic file can be downloaded more than one time do we need section 2-2.1 Obtaining Proposals paragraph 4?

Response: Yes, while orders will always be placed through the CPP Online Ordering System when it moves to Production, there will be instances where due to file size and download speed/time considerations those file (s) will be provided on a DVD or another portable electronic device. These instances will be clearly addressed in the applicable BSN.

No changes made.
