Throughout the specification, the date on the AASHTO references has been changed. Usually the date is not included and the most recent method is required. Is it necessary to have the date?

Response: The convention is to show the year for the AASHTO methods but not for the Florida Methods. The reasoning is that sometimes the Department does not specify the latest AASHTO method if a change was made that the Department does not agree with. However, Florida Methods are changed by the Department for a reason and therefore the latest version is always used.

No changes made.
