I recommend "limited situations" be deleted from this specification language unless situations where it will be applicable are properly defined to give Engineers consistent directives for usage.

Spec 234-1

Why do we still call Base mix B-12.5 when it is actually the exact same mix as SP 12.5 we use for Structural?

D4 Const has the following comments: New text: Traffic Level D or E mixtures may be used in lieu of Type B-12.5 mixtures in limited situations if approved by the Engineer. I'm not sure how helpful "in limited situations" is in explaining to the user when we would allow. Do you have any examples where this could be accepted?
