

2001 Florida Statewide Training and Technical Assistance Program

(as printed in Research Today, Spring 2002)

Documentation for the 2001 Florida Statewide Transit Training and Technical Assistance Program is now available. The Training Program was managed by the Center for Urban Transportation (CUTR), which also assisted transit agencies through the short-term Technical Assistance Program. On-site technical assistance included presentations given to local city or county commissions, transit agency policy boards, metropolitan planning organizations, or community groups and organizations on a broad range of transit-related subjects.

Short-term technical support included a provision for technical reports to be prepared upon and at the request of the Florida Department of Transportation, transit agencies, or other public agencies. The final report (BC-137-24) includes various program, registration, and feedback materials.
